The Whitman High School Yearbook

Class Motto– "God is our guide—Democracy our pride"

Class Flower—Talisman Rose

Class Colors—Dark Green and Silver

FOREWORD

IN ORDER that in the days of hardship and toil that confront us, in the days when we may feel discouraged, in the future years when our ideals shall have been attained, and in such times when we feel inclined to reminisce, we may open this yearbook filled with happy memories of our days at school, we, the Yearbook Staff, have tried to make it a true account of our four years at Whitman High School.

DEDICATION

TO MRS. LOUISE PAYTON, who has been our adviser during our three years' organization, we owe a greater debt than the co-dedication of this book can repay. For each activity which we have enjoyed, much credit is due Mrs. Payton for her unselfish labor and helpful ideas.

Many students have passed through these halls and classrooms during Mrs. Payton's years on the faculty, and they and we, the Class of 1943, will ever remember her friendly smile and willing advice.

TO MR. LLOYD SMITH, who with Mrs. Payton, was our adviser until the colors called him, we offer our sincere thanks and best wishes. For three years Mr. Smith has gladly helped us plan and carry out our activities, never stinting on time or work. Mr. Smith left us in March before he could join in the final Senior affairs, but we know that he is willingly doing his part to win this war and come back to Whitman to guide future students along their way.

Class Ode

By Beverly Blanchard, Ernest Bubieniec and Elizabeth Comerford

To the tune of " 'Til We Meet Again"

As we leave you, dear old Whitman High,
We are thinking of the days gone by—
Of the days we've spent with you
And our friends and comrades true.
We've learned, we've laughed, we've studied hard and long;
Founded friendships that are deep and strong.
Happy memories we will keep
As the years go by.

Now that we're about to say good bye
To the friends we've made in Whitman High,
We must prove that we have earned
Rights to serve with what we've learned.
So now we'll prove that we can pass the test
In a world where each must do his best.
Let us hope we'll meet again,
Friends and teachers too.

Pausing now to think of years gone by,
Which we've spent at dear old Whitman High.
They've been carefree and so gay;
Thoughts of them will always stay.
Now to these days we can no longer hold,
Future tasks and trials we see unfold.
So we bid you sad farewell
As we leave you now.

Yearbook Advisers

To Miss Smalley and Mr. Snow, our yearbook advisers, we give sincere thanks for their endless work and co-operation.

CLASS HISTORY

By Anne Baker and Lois Thomas

'Twas the sixth of September, nineteen thirty-nine
That we entered high school the first time.
How we stumbled and faltered those first fleeting days,
Tho' we were determined to shine.

The times when we wandered through rooms still unknown
Have vanished and gone like a dream.
And though we sometimes o'er a rough pathway trod,
In our memory this first year will gleam.

December brought us a sorrow so deep
Our minds and hearts could but heed.
'Twas the loss of a boy so friendly and bright
And dear to our hearts, Donny Reade.

From those first early days when we knew not our way,
We passed to our next year secure;
And we travelled this road without faltering a step
With wise leaders to make us more sure.

Mr. Smith, Mrs. Payton both gave endless work
To guide and advise on our way.
Our leaders were Hank, Mary, Betty, and Frank
Whom we followed from day to day.

Now as we travelled we gathered new friends
But the old ones we kept with us, too.
They made the journey seem happy and bright,
These friends who were so tried and true.

We began to prepare for our dance of the year
With minds that were eager and willing.
There were horseshoes and clovers all round the gym
With good luck as the theme we were billing.

In March we found ourselves in the gym
Gaily clapping our hands at the skill
Of each boy and girl. Those feats on the bars,
Or tricks with the horse gave a thrill.

Then came another social event
Making the way more bright;
'Twas an afternoon hop on March twenty-eight,
And we think it was done all right.

In our third year led by Frank, Mary, and Burt
And with Betty recording with care,
We started out in a great social whirl,
A year in our life past compare.

In November our class so bound to succeed
Planned for the Dogpatch Frolick;
We built in the gym a log cabin crude,
Placed scenes from our favorite comic.

Our actors now came forward to sight
In Dramatic Club showing such skill.
They soon made these rafters just rock with delight,
O'er family troubles which just fit the bill.

In athletics and clubs and the council and such
As Juniors more active were we;
We increased our field of abilities great
To help keep our country free.

May found us all frolicking at a bazaar,
With the girls in their formals so fair
Dancing and marching in our school so dear,
With the boys by their sides, debonair.

In the spring on defense an essay we wrote
For the Spellman Contest so fine.
Here prizes were won by two from our group—
Betty and Edwin won with their lines.

At the Seniors' graduation from the school,
We helped with their work and flowers,
Guiding their guests to seats in the hall,
Hoping someone would do that at ours.

In August another companion of ours
Took her leave from this world of strife,
When quiet and shy Nancy Hill left this earth
To be found in the after life.

Now came a year we shall never forget
When we started with pride our last climb.
How hopeful we were of making these months
Stand out in our memories through time.

In October we swayed at the season's first dance
'Midst the cornstalks and squash of fall crops,
With the orchestra playing behind a birch fence,
And music that was certainly tops.

We all bought gladly both stamps and bonds,
Our Council went over the top.
We all lent money to help win this war,
Some boys even left for the front.

Early in the year a play we chose
For an able cast to act.
We filled the Town Hall without delay;
Our success became a fact.

We'll always remember how Cookie did look
As mean Gideon Garvey he played.
How he sailed cross the room on his swift rollerskates,
Filling Clara's lap. Oh what dismay!

'Twas in February we had our last dance in this school.
We resolved a success it should be;
With one of our own class, Dick Vaughan, at the drums,
What a bright merry time had we!

In March Mr. Bayley, our principal dear,
Named those to whom honor should go
Of being among the top twelve in the class;
Much credit to our teachers we owe.

To Margaret and Gloria came the high honor
Of being the first in the class.
They deserve to receive both praise and applause
For having the rest surpassed.

Work was begun on the Yearbook so dear,
Which we'll keep to the end of our days.
We'll remember how each teacher and friend
Earned a part in our honor and praise.

When we're out in the world working hard for success,
And we've strayed from our school days so dear,
We'll look back with joy and delight on this book
Where faces of old friends appear.

Now came a parting we had dreaded and feared
With Mr. Smith, our adviser and friend.
We had hoped he might stay to finish with us,
But with tears he must leave in the end.

We have as our new adviser and helper
One we respect and admire;
Mr. Magnuson's cheerful and friendly ways
Have help for the end we desire.

Our mind trips over these last fleeting days
And comes to rest on that night
When we'll walk cross the platform with pride
And receive our diplomas with delight.

But mingled with our deepest delight
Is a sorrow heartfelt and drear.
At leaving each teacher and friend so true
We can't help shedding a tear.

We'll not soon forget Mr. Bayley, our friend,
For truly our hearts he has won
By doing his best to please us so well
With a school spirit not outdone.

Through this and other years gone by,
Mr. Lane has a helpful part played
With his guidance and thoughtful advice to us all,
And his facing each task undismayed.

We'll never forget Mr. Lane and his smile,
Refusing our problems to duck;
And we take time to thank him right now for his work
And wish him the best of luck.

The last merry time we'll be gathered together
Is at our reception so dear;
We'll look at each face with its bright merry smile
And wish we could always be near.

But when the bright evening is over and done,
And time for parting is near,
We'll clasp the hand of each classmate once more,
But we'll meet again, never fear.

In Memoriam

Our class has been unfortunate in losing two members from our group, Nancy Hill and Donald Reade.

We will long remember these two cheerful and friendly companions.

CLASS PROPHECY

By Margaret McIntosh, Louise Payne and James Riddell

Through the courtesy of the Amalgamated Corporations of the United States Government, we come to you in the imaginary year of 1953 to give first-hand news of the members of the 1943 graduating class of Whitman High School. Much water has passed under the bridge since we gathered in the Assembly Hall on that memorable June day. Some of us have moved up in the scale of importance while many of us have moved away in the scale of miles. Travel with us for many moons and miles to the broadcasting station of a modern television corporation while we tell you what's what in the Who's Who of this class of 1943.

As I entered the broadcasting station tonight, Gwendolyn Thompson, the lobby receptionist, told me that I would have to wait for the extended program stressing what "Miss 1953" would wear in 1954. June Mitchell, Mary White, and Muriel Linn, in their desire to present their usual excellent fashion parade, had run over their allotted sixty minutes. To pass the time away, I journeyed to the cafeteria of the W. H. S. station of the Amalgamated Radio Chain; here Virginia Page, hostess, ushered me to a table near the door.

While I was eating a very delectable meal prepared by Chef Harold Manson, I glimpsed Lee Crossman hurrying by the door to get to Studio C, where he was to broadcast the latest United Press News. He stopped long enough to tip me off that Robert Goodwin had been appointed special United States investigator of meat markets. We'll have no more black markets with Robert as a modern Thomas Dewey. I had a few minutes left before my time so I walked over to Studio H, where Gloria Harrington, accompanied by Dick Vaughan's Variety Vagrants, was singing the theme song of the program presented by the Bates-Randall Aviation Transportation Company. While in Studio H, I received a telephone call from cashier Beverly Blanchard, who told me I had forgotten to pay for my meal. At the cashier's desk I met Theresa Deminico, wardrobe mistress of the station, who told me that Bob Hope's position as radio wit has just been filled by Raymond Benson. She asked if I knew that Marion Ahearn had been appointed official hairdresser to Anne Baker, who has accomplished the said-to-be-impossible feat of becoming the first woman president of the United States. After all, Anne was our yearbook editor-in-chief. That job called for the diplomacy she has since used in her political campaigns. In all of Anne's trips, Marion Hopkins was her companion-nurse and Phyllis MacQuarrie, her confidential secretary. Ruth Corbett rushed up to tell Theresa and me that she had the contract to redecorate the White House.

My conversation terminated abruptly when Teresa Cleary, dressed charmingly in a red page costume, came to tell me I was due up here in two minutes. While coming up in the elevator, I conversed with Doris Fuller, who is now private secretary to Albert Kiernan, the financial director of the Power's Models—Marion Powers, not John Powers. Pauline Sproul, television director of the studio, met me at the studio door and rushed me here to this microphone. But I've hurried so I'm all out of breath. You'll have to take over, Jimmie.

This is Jimmie Fidler Riddell telling you that Yes man, shy Eugene Beary, finally said No when the wealthy widow, Marion Astor-Dupont, proposed to him last night.

The "around-the-world-or-bust" flight to increase world peace and friendship left LaGuardia Airport today at 3 p. m. after a large crowd had gathered to give the crew a rousing send-off. The pilots were Richard Peterson and Raymond Ball; Raymond LeFort went along as a machinist. The "New York Times" sent two of its best reporters and photographers, Frederick Holbrook and Eugenia Blakeman, while the "Chicago Tribune" was represented by Evelyn Coates. As you remember, Edna Gardner and Marjorie Musick were selected by national poll as the official letter writers for the trip. Margaret Minihan will accompany the crew as interpreter.

Katherine Angus, the well-known horse trainer, will probably stick to horses after today. Why? Well, this afternoon one of New York's busiest streets was overrun with horses when a horse truck and trailer overturned. Neither Katherine nor the driver, William Deehan, was injured. Probably William was hugging—the left side of the road!

Two basketball teams will clash tonight for the New York City championship; Cynthia Wladkowski will captain the Wildcats, while Frances

Sprague will lead the Hepcats. That All-American combination of the past few football seasons, Burt Smith and Gunner Hayes, will flash on the football field again this fall. They just returned their signed contracts calling for five thousand dollars yearly salary. This will probably take off the mind of Henry Huddleston, football scout for the Giants, quite a load.

Marine William White chased half of New York City down the sidewalk today, when he lost control of the airmobile he was driving and went up on the sidewalk for a few hundred feet before regaining control. There are easier ways than that to catch a girl, Willie!

Tonight in an exhibition game New England pool champion, William Payton, will play George Perry, formerly of the Naval Air Corps, now employed as chemical engineer for Pratt-Whitney Company of Hartford, Connecticut. Charles Carlson, because of his reputation as a tough sergeant of our last war, will be asked to referee. If George does just half as well shooting the cue ball as he did shooting down Japanese planes in the last war, he is a sure winner.

Traffic manager, Robert Sanborn, just doesn't know what to expect next after Dorothy Pennini, professional roller-skater, skated down a busy New York street and forced Paul Carey, truck driver, into a hydrant. Dorothy Pennini, you remember made roller skates popular during the last war when you skated to and from work to conserve on shoes, tires, and gas.

Ensign Harold Green and Katherine Welch hepcatted and jived to a New York dancing championship. Special applause went to Ensign Green, who danced the night through despite an injured leg; shrapnel pentrated it while Harold was fighting in the last war.

Marine Robert Baresel will speak tonight at the Madison Square Garden on his war experiences in the Marine Corps. Warren Kiernan will talk on the Army of the United States as it is today, while Alan Hamel will tell what the Coast Guard is planning for the future. The manager, Francis O'Rourke, now directing the Garden instead of the Senior Class, also hopes to have Lieut. Philip Zellar of the Navy present to compare our Navy with those of other nations. So if you are in the dark about our armed forces, be there tonight, I know I will.

Thank you, Art Baker O'Rourke, and hello everybody. On my recent visit to New York for Easter holidays of 1953, I was delighted to be introduced to that second Newton, Ernest Bubieniec, whose secretary, Marion Reed, is indeed fortunate to be working for such a brilliant person. On my plane ride to New York I enjoyed the excellent meals served by those two charming air hostesses, Priscilla Ellis and Evelyn Look. Evelyn gave me a favorable report on the singing of Fleda Sturtevant, who thrilled a vast audience at New York's Carnegie Hall last Friday.

Whitman High recently announced that four of its students who passed the Civil Service examination in 1943 were now working in Washington. Louise Payne of Halifax was placed in the Office of Production Management; Marjorie Singleton of Whitman is employed in the Treasury Department. Alice Sayce of South Hanson took the position of junior stenographer in the Bureau of Public Information; Irene Sands, also of Halifax, is employed as a file clerk in the Census Department.

Recently lovely Alice Hollis, that efficient nurse of the Massachusetts General Hospital, set a good example for the other nurses by donating a pint of blood at the local Red Cross. Esther Robbins, Elizabeth Comerford, Lois Thomas, Muriel Reed, and Phyllis Shea, stationed at other Boston hospitals, also followed suit.

Margaret Andrews, teacher of English and American History on the Whitman High School staff, is busily engaged in turning out the future teachers of America.

During the last war Pauline Coffelt assisted in organizing emergency medical field units; today, as a well-known doctor, she is working with the Red Cross; this organization's extensive collection of books is being catalogued by Jeanne Walkey, formerly North Hanson librarian. A recent investigation of the Red Cross financial status was conducted by James Riddell and Frances McFadden, C. P. A.'s of Boston, Massachusetts. This favorable report to the national organization was typed by Marion Hynes and Elizabeth Saganetti, their private secretaries.

After the last World War, during which time Carol Tucker and Eleanor Pratt received valuable training in the preparation of blood plasma to be shipped to our fighting forces, they entered the Jackson Memorial Laboratory in Bar Harbor,

Maine, where they are now experimenting with a serum to cure cancer. Frenziedly trying to keep up with the two doctors is Norma King, their valuable secretary. Their invented medical terms tax the spelling ability of poor Norma, who never knows what is coming next. Whenever she wants to check her words, she calls the former Betty MacDonald on the phone. Betty is willing to leave the kitchen of her Cape Cod cottage to try to help Norma out.

Speaking of cottages, I was told the other day that Milton Cook had visited Marjorie Avery Green's home in an effort to interest her in a reducing drug he had just discovered. It was guaranteed to take off fifty pounds in five months, but Marjorie still isn't interested in reducing!

Another Marjorie I saw recently was Marjorie Holland, who wanted to take my picture—I was to wear my latest creation, the Fruit Basket of 1953! After seeing it, she changed her mind. While I was waiting in Marjorie's studio, I couldn't help admiring the artistic portraiture of Junior Cavicchi, Helen Cunningham's youngest. Winnie Higgins, dressed as usual in her latest creation, is Marjorie's reception clerk; she knows just how to pose the clients to their best advantage. Anyone overcome by the Kleig lights of the studio can be resuscitated by Margaret McIntosh, Marjorie's studio nurse, now working here in the United States but expecting to leave any day for the Burns Memorial Hospital of Edinburgh, Scotland.

With "Good Afternoon" to some of you, "Good Evening" to more of you, and "Good Luck" to all of you, this is Hedda Hopper Payne signing off for W. H. S. of the Amalgamated Radio Chain.

CLASS WILL

By Marion Hynes and Irene Sands

Goddess, we have heard your story, and now we have something to say. Irene and I have drawn up a will, leaving to the Junior Class and others the characteristics, abilities, and attributes which have enabled the Class of 1943 to have had so successful a four years in high school.

On behalf of our client, the Class of 1943 of Whitman High School, we have called you together on this solemn occasion to hear her last will and testament and to receive from her the few gifts she has to give in her last moments. She has tried to be just, as well as generous, and has distributed these gifts as wisely as possible in these times of stress. These are her decisions, finally arrived at after long and deliberate consideration. She begs us to state that she may possibly have been mistaken in her inventory, but such things she thinks she has, she hereby gives into your possession, hoping that you will accept and treasure them as the years go by.

Listen, then, as we read this document, duly drawn up and sworn to:

We, the Class of 1943, wish to bequeath to its members and friends the following:

To Mr. Bayley, our principal, our sincere appreciation and deepest gratitude for the help he has given us.

To the faculty, our gratitude for guiding us so untiringly over the paths of learning.

To the members of the Junior Class, the ability of the Senior Class to walk to the school dances and activities through this period of rationing.

To the Junior Commercial group, that interesting task of working at the Rationing Board every other two weeks.

To the Commercial pupils taking over the lunchroom accounts and management of funds, Beverly Blanchard's and Jimmy Riddell's ability to keep the books balanced.

To Mr. Lane's future helpers in the supply closet, Francis O'Rourke's and George Perry's ability to "have a place for everything, and everything in its place."

To the president of the Class of 1944, the executive ability of Francis O'Rourke.

To Barbara Harper, the management of the Girls' Basketball team, and the hope that she will continue the fine work that Cynthia Wladkowski has displayed as manager during the past year.

To those boys who qualify for the positions held by "Burt" Smith, "Gunner" Hayes, Harold Green, and William White, the football suits worn by these outstanding players.

To those coming Seniors who are to take chemistry, the Senior chemists' appointments of every Monday and Thursday afternoons to do those "must" experiments.

To whomever will be honored with the position of captain of the Girls' Basketball Team next year, the ability that Betty Saganetti and Frances Sprague showed as co-captains during the past year.

To those undergraduates who will successfully come through the competition next year, the pep, enthusiasm, and untiring efforts of the Senior cheerleaders.

To those juniors who will qualify for the positions on next year's staff, the intellectual, technical, and artistic ability displayed by the staff of 1943.

To those boys who have a convenient study period, the task of grooming the baseball diamond, and at the same time the opportunity to enjoy the spring sunshine.

To the incoming Senior members of the Student Council, the opportunity to be of service to the school, and as Seniors, to assume your rightful position of leadership and thus maintain the fine reputation of the Student Council.

All the rest of our property, of which nature, kind, and quality it may be, not mentioned herein, we give to our Principal for his use and to be used for the good of the coming classes as he may see fit. We trust that the coming classes will appreciate all this as deeply as we have done. We believe it will be their most precious possession, as it has been ours.

And we do hereby appoint the said Principal sole executor of this our last will and testament.

In witness whereof, We, the Class of 1943, the testators, have to this will set our hands and seal this twelfth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and forty-three.

Rosie the Riveter,
Johnny Zero.

Service Memorial

EDWIN THURSTON ROBERT MILBERY

RALPH BOLINDER CHESTER DAIGLE

The Class of 1943 wishes to pay tribute to those members of the class who have joined the Armed Forces. These members of our class felt it was their duty to fight for world freedom, and it is our sincerest hope that we will have them with us once again when the years of strife have passed.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Middle Row: Helen Rymut, Gloria Harrington, Janice Newhall, Beverly Sears, Claire English, Betty Hogg, Shirley Tero.

Last Row: Mr. Card, Stephen Cole, James Harrington, Francis O'Rourke, Richard LeClair, George Bayley, Clayton Anderson, Edward Giberti, Mrs. McInnes.

Student Council

In September the Student Council met with its advisers, Mrs. McInnes and Mr. Card, and chose the following officers for the year:

President .....Ralph Bolinder
Vice-President .....Pauline Coffelt
Secretary .....Margaret Minihan
Treasurer .....Isabel Hogg
Executive Board.Alan Hamel, Jeanne Walkey

President Bolinder left to enter the Navy in November, and was succeeded by Bernard Hayes.

A committee of Gloria Harrington, Ruth Harrington, and Clyde MacKenzie, was organized to supervise the sale of war stamps and bonds in the school. Stamps were sold three days a week, and in several rooms 100% of the pupils bought stamps regularly. The school entered the Treasury Jeep Contest in March, agreeing to purchase five jeeps at $900 each within six weeks. The quota was oversubscribed by $500.

The Council decided to purchase a Service Memorial Plaque to contain the names of all those from the school who had joined the Armed Forces since December 7, 1941.

This year the bicycle racks in the rear of the building were repaired and painted, and the usual projects, including the Red Cross and the Infantile Paralysis Drive, were successfully conducted by the Council.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

"THE CALAMITY KIDS"

On Wednesday evening, December 16, 1942, the Senior Class presented its annual play to a capacity audience at the Town Hall. The scene was laid in the old farmhouse of Emily and Hezekiah Hoskins who were sheltering the orphaned twins Midge and Mickey, Brad Rivers, and the mysterious Bonnie Blue.

The audience shook with laughter when villainous Gideon Garvey roller skated across the stage to fall into the welcoming arms of the gossipy old maid Clara Clagg. There were several outstanding scenes in the play including the duel between Bonnie and Brad, Elmer's fright at the sight of a mouse, and the argument over Brad which caused Bonnie to chase glamorous Lorraine out of the room.

In addition to comedy, there was the mystery about where Bonnie Blue had come from, who she really was, and why she had left home. The story concerned the mortgage due on the Hoskinses' home and the fate of the orphaned twins.

Gideon's attempt to make Bonnie his wife by threatening to foreclose the mortgage if she refused, failed when Brad, whom Bonnie really loved, found a stamp for his collection which brought enough money to save the mortgage and keep the twins from having to live with their aunt and uncle.

Miss Jean Smalley, of the high school faculty, spent tireless weeks coaching the cast, as did Margaret Minihan, who served as prompter.

The cast was as follows:

Bonnie Blue .....Gloria Harrington
Brad Rivers .....Harold Manson
Emily Hoskins .....Pauline Coffelt
Hezekiah Hoskins .....Edwin Thurston
Midge Starr .....June Mitchell
Mickey Starr .....Frederic Holbrook
Gideon Garvey .....Milton Cook
Clara Clagg .....Catherine Welch
Lorraine Ludlow .....Mary White
Opal Ludlow .....Lois Thomas
Elmer Vandersnook Ludlow....Ernest Bubieniec

SENIOR-JUNIOR DRAMATIC CLUB

Second Row: Hazel Saulnier, Claire Capelotti, Lois Welsh, Corinne Jenkins, Doris Leighton, Patricia Newell, Dorothy Fahrenholt.

Third Row: Lee Crossman, Milton Cook, Helen Vigneault, Charlene Waugh, Ruth Harrington, Allan Hamel, Miss Tinker.

Back Row: Miss Wood, Ernest Bubieniec, John Reed, Stergios Milonas, Lloyd Curby, Robert Millett.

Senior-Junior Dramatic Club

This year, even though some of its activities have been curtailed because of the war, the Junior-Senior Dramatic Club has been quite active under the supervision of its advisers, Miss Tinker and Miss Wood, and its officers:

Gloria Harrington ..... President
Helen Rymut ..... Vice-President
Jeanne Walkey ..... Secretary
Frederick Dake ..... Treasurer

The play "Two Crooks and a Lady" was presented in March with an able cast of performers.

It is doubtful whether the usual night performance to be given in May will be given this year due to transportation and lack of available actors.

Meetings were held throughout the year, and members were appointed to serve on various committees.

ORCHESTRA

Middle Row: Meredith Peterson, Dorothy Brittain, Nancy Wright, Thomas McCarthy, Miss McCarthy, Roy Swan, Harold Terzian.

Middle Row: Robin Brittain, Albert Gregory, Bethel Pratt, John Coffelt, Patricia MacEachron, Eleanor Pratt, George Bayley.

PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB

Second Row: Marjorie Holland, Duke Curby, Allen Marshall, Harris Penniman, Richard Josselyn, Stephen Cole, George Dupree, Charleen Bell, Edna McClellan.

Third Row: Lee Crossman, Joseph Comerford, Sewall Vaughan, George Perry, Henry Huddleston, Richard Peterson, John Hutchinson, Edward Giberti.

Back Row: Mr. McKey, Ned Kirby.

Photography Club

The Whitman High School Photography Club, organized in 1937, has had to curtail its activities this year because of war conditions, the scarcity of supplies, and the fact that many of the members with positions outside of school have found it impossible to devote time to photographic work.

However, the club has made a definite contribution to the school in training many lower-classmen in the elements of photographic technique.

In October an afternoon dance proved so profitable that it was possible for the club to purchase a professional safelight and other new equipment, thus making the dark-room unusually well equipped.

Several former members are now doing photographic work for the Armed Services.

It is the hope of the club members that conditions next year will permit their holding an exhibition similar to the ones of former years.

Officers for 1942-43 have been the following:

President .....Charles Carlson
Vice-President .....Margaret McIntosh
Secretary .....Marion Power
Acting Treasurer .....William Curby
Adviser .....Gordon W. McKey

ATHLETIC COUNCIL
Front Row: (left to right) Mr. Lane, William White, Elizabeth Comerford, Mrs. McInnes.

Athletic Association

The Athletic Association was organized to give all members equal representation in the athletic activities of the school, and is the one organization to which all may belong. Its affairs are controlled by the Executive Board, elected annually by the entire student body. This year the students of Whitman High School elected William White, President; Leon Heddericg, Vice-President; Mary White, Secretary; Paul Plasse, Treasurer; Elizabeth Comerford, Senior Representative; Harold Hathaway, Junior Representative; Robert Landers, Sophomore Representative; and Mrs. McInnes, Adviser. Mr. Lane had already been appointed Faculty Manager.

During the football season, the Executive Board conducted a very successful membership drive throughout the school. At the opening rally, reports were read by the members of the Board, and a short skit, written by Elizabeth Comerford, was presented by all the members of the Executive Board.

It was voted to award sweaters to the Senior football players who had earned them, and to the others who would have earned them had they not left school to serve in the Armed Forces. It was also voted to award basketball numerals to the girls on intramural teams.

An Injury Fund Drive was held in the school and throughout the town, and was so successful that in two days $185.59 had been donated to put the Drive over the top.

During the year, the Executive Board lost three of its representatives because of the war, and its secretary because of extra-curricular points. For this reason, James Riddell was elected Treasurer, and Elizabeth Comerford Secretary. The other members were not replaced because of the short time left in the school year.

First Row: (left to right) Edward Giberti, Allan Marshall, William Deehan, Paul Plausse, Burton Rosen, Wallace Darsch, Robert Godbout, Paul Carey, Bert Brine, James Harrington, John Hutchinson.

Back Row: Allen Marshall (manager), Mr. Leavitt (coach), Mr. Lane (faculty manager), John Hutchinson (manager).

Boys' Athletics

FOOTBALL

For the first time in Whitman High School football competition, Whitman was unable to secure at least one victory.

At the first call of re-appointed Coach Etelman, about 45 candidates reported for football. The season looked very bright with nine lettermen coming back for their second season.

Before this seasoned squad lay an enormous task. First, there was only one coach to handle the entire squad; second, there was the transportation problem.

For the first game, Whitman traveled to Bridgewater—the game progressed very slowly, and in the closing minutes of the game, a long pass was completed to Whitman's fifteen, where a series of end runs scored a touchdown for Bridgewater. Whitman dropped its first game 7 to 0.

Again Whitman was on the road; this time to big and powerful Stoughton. A more determined Whitman team played Stoughton to a standstill in the first quarter. In the beginning of the second quarter, an attempted pass from kick formation was blocked, then caught and run for Stoughton's first touchdown. At the final whistle of the game, a hard-fighting Whitman team was beaten 19 to 0.

After a hard week of practice, Whitman traveled to far-away Hingham to be handed its worst defeat of the season. The boys suffered severely at the hands of flashy Allum and hard hitting fullback Handrahan. When the smoke cleared, it was Hingham 48, Whitman 0.

After this game, nothing hit Whitman but trouble. During the following week of practice, quarter-back Bob Tero was definitely sidelined for the season with two bad shoulders, and halfback Russ Thomas was sent to the hospital with a slight concussion of the brain.

Whitman went into its first home game in a much weakened condition. The boys, determined to end their losing streak, roared out in the first period to score 6 points and take the lead. In the second period Milton evened the count 6 all. An intercepted Whitman flat pass provided Milton with their winning tally. So far in the first four games, the Whitman forward wall seemed to hold well, but the backs seemed to be the weak spot. Although Whitman scored their first touchdown, they were beaten 12 to 6.

The following week Whitman met Plymouth on their home park for their second week at home. It seemed that all luck was against Whitman. Left half-back Hayes ran a dazzling 66-yard run to give Whitman a short-lived victory. Poor kicking and a bad passing defense caused a hard fighting Whitman team to go down to a 12 to 7 defeat, although the line was most outstanding in its defensive play.

Whitman High then traveled to play Rockland. Rockland boasted its best record in a decade, highlighted by the magnificent passing of Jack Scott, and the hard running of Franky DelPrete. Whitman's only score in a 35 to 6 defeat was by halfback Hayes, who caught a flat pass and ran 75 yards for a touchdown.

For the next game Whitman was supposed to travel to far off North Andover, but due to transportation difficulties, the game was cancelled.

Going into the last weeks of practice before the Thanksgiving Day game, Whitman's hopes for victory grew slightly with the return of Russ Thomas to the team. All the boys on the squad set their goal to beat Abington or hold them scoreless. Abington to date had been undefeated and untied, and the odds soared in favor of Abington as the game neared. At last Whitman's luck turned, as a driving rain storm soaked Legion Field and hindered Abington's passing attack.

A hard-fighting and well-spirited Whitman team completely outfought and outplayed a highly favored Abington team. Abington scored first and led 6 to 0—Whitman struck back fiercely, and Hayes caught a pass and raced over the goal to even the count. At the half, it was 6 to 6 and Whitman's hopes were high. As the second half started, Abington started a drive that even the strong Whitman line could not hold. Abington scored their second touchdown and point, to make it 13 to 6. Whitman fought back with every available ounce of strength to score again, but to no avail. Whitman was never outfought from beginning to end, and a moral victory was achieved at any rate. The forward line showed up to advantage as usual, with Co-Captains Mackiewicz and Smith, as well as Roger Bates and Francis Tero.

At the football banquet in December, the following fellows were given sweaters: Co-Captains Walter Mackiewicz and Burton Smith, Roger Bates, Paul Carey, William Deehan, Harold Green, Bernard Hayes, Richard Randall, Francis Tero, William White, and Leon Hedderieg, a Junior, who left soon afterwards for the U. S. Navy. Major "W's" were awarded to Henry Bailey, Richard Casey, William Danforth, Edward McCarthy, Robert Millett, Paul Plasse, and newly elected Captain Russ Thomas.

With conditions looking worse for next year, there isn't too much hope for the prospect of football at Whitman High.

BASKETBALL

With most of the Senior and Junior boys working afternoons, intramural basketball wasn't too much of a success.

Due to the late appointment of the new coach, a varsity basketball team was ruled out, although Whitman could have been well represented in this field.

★

Why

Does everybody call Mr. Card "Dekker"?
Is Pauline C. called "Petunia"?
Do the boys say "fella"?
Do Seniors have to take chemistry?
Does "Cookie" make eyes at the girls?
Is Francis O'Rourke's nickname "Speed"?
Do Ernest and Lois whisper so much?
Does everybody like Betty and Mary?
Is Harold Manson blushing all the time?
Is "Pete" so inquisitive?
Did Scotty "whack" Willie that day in chemistry?
Does everybody chew gum?
Does "Stoogie" have a different girl at every dance?
Does B. C. go stag to every dance?
Is M. White always humming "Anchors Aweigh"?
Did everyone have the measles this year?
Is Dick Randall such a shiek?

★

What If

Milton Cook never looked at a girl?
Gloria Harrington were an old maid?
Betty C. were to stop smiling?
W. H. S. keeps sinking?
There were no more blimps to watch?
We had made that H_2S?
Ernest ever flunked a test?
Robert Goodwin forgot to be polite?
Alan Hamel didn't give out slips?
William White never changes a certain girl's name?
Scotty stops flirting?

BASKETBALL

In the gymnasium, every Tuesday and Thursday, one could hear the shouts of players when a [illegible] at practice every afternoon, and played together under the able coaching of Miss Tate. After two or three practices, the girls who were eligible were chosen for the two varsity teams. Betty Saganetti and Frances Sprague were chosen co-captains of the first team, and Dorothea Eidler was chosen captain of the second team. Barbara Harper and Cynthia Wladkowski were voted in as team managers.

This year, due to transportation difficulties, our schedule was somewhat shorter and different from previous years. Only one team could be taken to games that were played away from home.

The schedule consisted of ten games with four different schools, resulting in the following scores:

Home Games

Jan. 28	Rockland	9	Whitman	10
Jan. 14	Avon	29	Whitman	6
	Avon	31	Whitman	10
Jan. 22	Holbrook	18	Whitman	15
Feb. 2	West Bridgewater	17	Whitman	11

Away Games

Jan. 11	Rockland	7	Whitman	12
Feb. 8	Avon	53	Whitman	11
Feb. 12	West Bridgewater	28	Whitman	14
	West Bridgewater	32	Whitman	8

To end up the basketball season, three exciting class games were played. The first battle was between the Freshmen and Sophomores, with the Freshmen emerging victorious 22 to 13. The next thriller was the Junior-Senior game, and it proved extremely exciting, with the Seniors coming out victorious 7 to 3. Then came the last and most exciting game of all, the Freshmen-Senior game, with loyal classmates rooting from the side lines. The Seniors won 9-8 after the Freshmen put up a hard fight.

BADMINTON

Recently badminton has become very popular all over the country, and Whitman girls, realizing what the game offers, consequently, have shown enthusiasm for it this season.

After a score of practice games, the tournament got under way. There were 10 double games in the tourney, with Greta Eidler and Doris McLaughlin coming out with top honors.

BASEBALL

When it is spring, thoughts turn to baseball, and pitching and swinging on the diamond.

After several practice sessions, teams were chosen and captains elected, then, "Everyone to her position," and the start of a series of games. Players foul out, fly out, ground out, and are forced out. To the pitchers' woe they hit singles, doubles, triples, and even homers as they round the bases with the cheers of the fans ringing in their ears.

Yes, baseball is a fitting climax to a wonderful and successful athletic season; we are only sorry that we won't be able to come back for another game next year.

To the Class of 1943 --

Congratulations on your fine record!

Industry is already waiting for your "helping hand" in fighting the battle on the home front.

Cranberries, like many other foods, have gone to war. We who are growing cranberries need the help of hundreds of workers to produce cranberries to fill Army orders. If, during your coming vacation, you want to lend a hand in producing this essential crop, there are hundreds of jobs awaiting you on hundreds of cranberry bogs.

The "land army" needs your help to grow more food in 1943!
